

Living with Contradictory Convictions

Over the last 25 years the Methodist people have been on a 'Pilgrimage of Faith' to discover how we can better express our love for God in how we love one another and enable each other to love. As a Methodist people we have chosen to journey on together and find ways of living with contradictory convictions.

The circuit is organising an opportunity for people of differing opinions and experiences to share views and ask questions about what the Bible says about same sex relationships and marriage. It is not about coming to an agreed policy or uniform opinion on the Methodist Conference Report 'God in love unite us' which talks much more widely about human relationships, it is however about creating greater understanding about how Christians can hold different views as we journey together.
