Dear Friends

John Wesley's experience of assurance of God's love which he experienced so vividly on 24 May 1738, became the driver of his life, shaping his preaching and demonstrated in his work with poor and needy people.

"In the evening I went very unwillingly to a society in Aldersgate Street, where one was reading Luther's preface to the Epistle to the Romans. About a quarter before nine, while he was describing the change which God works in the heart through faith in Christ, I felt my heart strangely warmed. I felt I did trust in Christ, Christ alone for salvation, and an assurance was given me that he had taken away my sins, even mine and saved me from the law of sin and death." (from Wesley's Journal)

Throughout the remainder of his life, Wesley preached that we should consider ourselves as stewards; all we have – mentally, physically and in material wealth comes from God and we will be responsible before God for how we use those gifts.

"... Employ whatever God has entrusted you with, in doing good, all possible good, in every possible kind and degree to the household of faith, to all people! ... Give all ye have, as well as all ye are, a spiritual sacrifice to him who withheld not from you his Son, his only Son ..." (from Wesley's sermon 50: The Use of Money)

Aldersgate Sunday provides an opportunity for us as the people called Methodists to reflect on the difference that a deeper awareness and experience of grace has made for us – to consider the value of the Church to ourselves and the wider community, and how we respond to all that God has given us. Do we live generously? What can we learn from those that have gone before us?

"Day by day, as they spent much time together in the temple, they broke bread at home and ate their food with glad and generous hearts, praising God and having the goodwill of all the people. And day by day the Lord added to their number those who were being saved." Acts 2:46-47 (NRSV)

God bless

Patrick
